Dayoris Doors

Today's decor calls for smooth, clean lines with minimal visual detail. The research and development team at Dayoris Doors pride themselves on being innovators of modern door design. They have created a new method of framing that allows for seamless installation of a frameless door that is strong enough to withstand the daily functioning of an interior door yet thin enough to disappear completely after it is skillfully installed. The new Dayoris Filo Muro line allows the door to lie flush with the adjacent wall and is available in both Flush In-Swing and Flush Out-Swing models. They are installed with the slimmest aluminum profile available on the market today. The doors are fitted with a micro-concealed hinge system and Italian magnetic mortise system that allows even the door's edge to maintain a uniform profile, unobstructed by a traditional latching system.
