The city of Hallandale Beach dressed up to welcome you to YMCA, the institution synonymous with sports worldwide, which opened its modern facilities in Broward County, in Peter Bluesten Park. "The Y" held a successful and busy event opening activities on September 26, which was attended by the city authorities, members of the Chamber of Commerce, representatives of the various YMCA of South Florida and outstanding personalities of the cultural and sports field.

Executives Sheryl A. Woods, Jean Riderer and Igor Iovanovich, directors of YMCA of Hallandale Beach, welcomed those present, among whom was Joy Adams, the Mayor of the city, who was in charge of the first of the four Ribbons that were made to officially inaugurate this sports and cultural center that has the latest technological advances.

YMCA from Hallandale Beach has a sensational outdoor pool, a spectacular gym for basketball, volleyball, and futsal, a gigantic state-of-the-art fitness center with cardio equipment and weights, large group exercise rooms, teen room, children's room, 35 fixed bicycles, community room and large offices.
